

Sea and Sage Audubon Society

INVITATION

Education Opportunities Meeting

Do you love nature and want to use your talents to make a difference?

Attend our Education Meeting on January 30th to discover more about the education opportunities available in 2025 and how you can help.

On-going Programs

- Outdoor Adventures
- Nature Day Camps
- Summer Bat Walks

Proposed New Programs

- Grandparents Day
- Lending Library
- My Neighborhood Walks
- Seasonal Nature Walks

Everyone is welcome from long-time naturalists to those wanting to learn more.

- If you're new, we'll introduce you to on-going programs and new programs.
- If you already volunteer with the Marsh Education Project, we'll share our new programs and ask for your own ideas for new outreach.

Meeting also includes a short presentation by Project Director Trude Hurd on "How to Incorporate Native Plants into our Education Programs."

DATE: Thursday, January 30, 2024
TIME: 10 AM to Noon
LOCATION: Learning Center at San Joaquin Wildlife Sanctuary in Irvine

We hope that you will join us for a fun morning at the marsh!

Kindly RSVP by email to Education Chair Ellyn Siskind: ellyn.siskind@gmail.com
